

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Richmond. Mr. Camidge the Minister shewed me the books, but he says there are omissions and chasms in the years 1750 and 1751, one of which is certainly the year.* Mr. Comer was the Minister at that time . . . and I have often heard my mother say how extremely intoxicated he used to be in evenings—not able to walk home.”† It was, however, a conscientious minister of later date who at length brought the disgraceful neglect of the parish clerks to an end. In 1783 the Rev. Thomas Wakefield, who then held the Cure, made this note in the book :—

[“N.B.—This Register, in the registering by Clem^t Smith the Vestry Clerk, has been found in many instances and various respects to be exceedingly incorrect, owing, as there was much reason to suppose, to his having registered the whole at one time from Memorandum-books and even loose papers, which he was at length constrained to copy in consequence of Thomas Wakefield the Minister requiring all the parish Registers to be delivered into his own care in the year 1783.—T. W.”]

Even then, Clement Smith before-named did not divulge that he had in his possession the volumes covering 1583—1682, so when Lysons was compiling his account of Richmond for the “Environs,” Mr. Wakefield told him that there was no register of previous date to 1682, and that there was consequently no extant entry of “Stella’s” baptism. In December 1796 a son of the above-named Clement Smith delivered the earlier registers into Mr. Wakefield’s hands, and Lysons was then able to publish the “Stella” entry among some “Addenda.”

In spite of so much that has contributed to its imperfection, the Richmond Register is one of unusual value and of far more than local interest. The palace was more or less in occupation by Royalty until almost the end of the reign of Charles I., for which reason a large number of entries in the contemporary register relate to persons who were about the Court. During the Protectorate there were living in Richmond and Shene several families whose names were identified with one side or the other in the Civil War, including two of the regicides, viz., Humphry Edwards and the "Cobbler-Colonel" Hewson (the latter being styled in the Vestry Book of 1658, as in a lampoon of the same time, "The Lord Hewson"*)). Colonel Henry Washington (a cousin-german to the President's emigrant ancestor) who fought on the King's side was also buried, as was Humphry Edwards, in the church or churchyard. It was only in the nature of things that Richmond should, by reason of its intrinsic beauty and of its accessibility to London, develop into a favourite and fashionable suburb; and the Register, from the Restoration, continues to include a considerable proportion of entries that are of historical or of wide genealogical interest.† Later still will be found many entries which indicate that the Revolution involved the planting of several French refugee families within the parish.

* All record of the marriages between June 13, 1751, and May 11, 1754, is lost.

† Mr. Comer’s M.I. in Kingston Church hints at some imperfection of character—a very unusual circumstance.

Contemporary writers allude to the picturesque sight afforded by the fleets of sailing barges, which were wont to carry their cargoes of fruit and vegetables from Richmond down to London during the eighteenth century. That part of the Parish Register which covers the same period contains accordingly an abnormally large number of entries relating to watermen and "gardeners," i.e., nurserymen. In the same connection are a few burials of "coddors"—poor women who journeyed to Richmond for the pea-gathering season.‡

* About 1659 there was published a ballad called "The Cobbler's last Will and Testament, or The Lord Hewson's Translation." At that time the term "translator" was a synonym of "cobbler."

† Within a few of the earlier years of the eighteenth century there were buried at Richmond four painters who have found places in the "Dict. Nat. Biog.," viz., Laroon, Lilley, William Gibson, and Edward Gibson. As to the two latter the Dictionary gives the year-date of death incorrectly.

‡ A similar custom of migration still lingers in the adjacent parish of Isleworth, whither a number of Salop girls, known locally as "Sroppies," journey year by year in canal boats at the time of the fruit harvest.

The epidemic scourges which visited London in 1603 and 1625 swell the lists of burials at Richmond in those years. In the State Papers (Domestic Series) "circa 1640" is an undated letter which refers to another epidemic, which was I believe purely local. This letter is from Cornelius Holland, Paymaster for the Royal children, to Sir Henry Vane, Treasurer of the Household, and reads thus:—

"It has pleased God to visit the town of Richmond with the plague in two houses near to the pond at the entrance into the town; two died this forenoon full of the tokens out of one house, and two more out of another house this afternoon since Dr. Chambers was with the King, and another child now lies full of the tokens ready to depart; and in a third house a woman lies sick, whom we fear is infected from those other houses, and indeed we suspect all this to have happened from the barber's man of the tent, who died in one of these houses about Tuesday was sen-night."

A glance at the Register suggests that this visitation of the "plague" must have occurred in July, August, and September 1640. Apparently the "great plague" of 1665 did not greatly affect the death-rate in Richmond.

The usual very high rate of infant mortality is (once again) illustrated by the Richmond Register; see for example pages 197, 216, 257, 258, etc.

A marriage in 1680 exemplifies the promptitude with which a lady who lost her husband was wont to transfer her affection to a fresh suitor. William Hardiman was buried at St. Margaret's, Westminster, on July 23. His widow applied four days later for a licence to marry William Brawne, and on August 2 the marriage took place.

A revised version of a Latin phrase, which occurs in connection with a burial January 19, 1707-8, is almost too choice to be lost in the text: "Thomas Hobbs hanged himself, and was found non posos menties"! The burial of Mr. "Warnan" is probably the clerk's own voicing of the deceased gentleman's name—Vernon.

On a fly-leaf at the beginning of Register No. III. is a

Sums of money collected in this way would, not probably, be apt to dwindle ere they reached their proper objective. In 1653-4 Nicholas Shepheard, formerly "Register of Surrey," says in his will: "I have in my hands that were never called for certaine Breefes or collections for Maldon in Essex and for Essindon in Hartfordshire, in all to the summe of thirtie shillings or thereabouts as I take it."

It is perhaps as well to mention that from about 1780, when there had arisen a great difficulty in finding vacant spaces in the churchyard, a considerable number of Richmond folk were buried at Petersham. This custom did not entirely stop when the new "Burial ground" was opened in 1791.

The Vicar of Richmond, the Rev. Max F. B. Binney, M.A., most readily consented to the printing of his Registers, and, to myself personally, has added every possible kindness. Mr. Thomas Tibballs, the greatly respected parish clerk, has always helped me ungrudgingly.

Lastly, the Society is under much obligation to Mr. Wilfrid J. Hemp for voluntarily undertaking, and carefully carrying out, the compilation of the Index—a most laborious task.

J. CHALLENGOR C. SMITH.

Memorandum made on January 1st, 1797.—This old Register was not delivered into the hands of Tho. Wakefield the Minister with the other Parish Registers of Richmond in the year 1783, but was sent to him in December 1796 by Clem^t Smith the son of the late Clem^t Smith the Parish & Vestry Clerk.

* This is Edmond Lilly the painter. The register at this period is partly in the handwriting of a scribe whose formation of the capital letter "L" was much more like a "K." This particular entry was not written by him, but no doubt it was copied from a draft or memorandum that he had furnished to the compiler of the register. In a number of instances I have found that the initial "L" has been written over the erasure of a "K," indicating that in such cases the misreading had been noticed and corrected. In this particular instance the error was not discovered. A parallel case is that of baptism of "Ketticia" Brady, baptized July 26, 1705, and buried "Lettitia" Brady December 12 following.
